

Dr. Edmund F. Woods Among Arabic's Missing; Is One Of Two Americans Unaccounted For

JANESVILLE PHYSICIAN RETURNING FROM FRANCE MAY BE VICTIM OF WAR

WHITE STAR LINE REPORTS DEFINITELY THAT HIS NAME IS NOT AMONG LIST OF PERSONS RESCUED.

LITTLE HOPE REMAINS

Chances That Those Missing May Still Be Located Alive Are Considered Slight—Local Relatives and Friends Anxious.

BULLETIN.

London, August 20.—It has now been definitely established, the White Star line announced this afternoon, that only two Americans on the Arabic are unaccounted for. These are Dr. Edmund F. Woods and either Mrs. Josephine Brugliere or Louie Brugliere. The name of Louie Brugliere appears on the American embassy's list of the saved.

Dr. Edmund F. Woods of this city is one of two American passengers of the White Star liner Arabic, sunk on Thursday by a German submarine off the coast of Ireland, who is still missing. It was definitely announced in the news dispatches this afternoon.

Shortly before noon today Mrs. Woods received a message in response to a telegram dispatched late Thursday afternoon to the steamship company's office asking for word of her husband, which stated that Dr. Woods' name did not appear in the list of names of survivors. This report was borne out by Associated Press dispatches received at the Gazette office this morning, and also late this afternoon.

Friends and relatives of Dr. Woods became alarmed yesterday afternoon when they learned of the torpedoing of the Arabic, as it was known that he had sailed on that steamer. Mrs. Woods immediately wired the American office of the White Star line and got in touch with the Associated Press through the Gazette. Word received early Thursday evening stated that two of the passengers were unaccounted for, and that names had not been received. Press reports showed that the majority of persons missing were members of the crew.

Mrs. Woods received a telephone message during the night from the Chicago office of the Associated Press stating that Dr. Woods had been reported saved. This proved incorrect, as subsequent dispatches this morning indicated.

While there has been no definite word received that the Janesville man has been lost, and while both Mrs. Woods and his half-sister, John T. Fitchett, have not given up hope that he may yet be located alive, it is doubtful whether he will be found, especially as all other Americans and passengers on board have been so accounted for.

Dr. Woods left Janesville on Tuesday, June 8, for New York, where he had for Liverpool on the liner New York. He left with a number of passengers, two or three months in the hospitals at the front. At the time he left Janesville his plans for service were indefinite although he intended to go to France. He did not speak for a long time, but he was in Europe and Red Cross physicians must serve for a definite term.

Letters received from him since he went abroad indicated that he was in the hospital. He was offered supervision of a big receiving hospital by the French government but owing to the fact that he does not speak French he declined the offer. He was under his charge were French speaking, he did not think it wise to accept. He then returned to England where he served in the St. Bartholomew hospital, transpo when to America to visit his wife or friends in this country. It is thought that he came worried over this, especially as his wife's parents were in ill health when he left home, and that he determined to stay at a home earlier than was his original intention.

For twenty-five years or more Dr. Woods has been a prominent physician here, making a specialty of surgical cases. He has enjoyed an extensive practice and has made a deep study of his profession. He was a member of a large number of medical societies and has been to Europe ten times, on the majority of international scope. He was in England last July at the time of the outbreak of the European war, attending the convention of the North American Association, and had some thrilling experiences in securing X-ray apparatus for soldiers similar to those of other American war fugitives.

More Boats Sunk By Submarines

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Another White Star Boat Sinks. New York, Aug. 20.—Advices received here today bring report that the White Star liner Arabic has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine. The Arabic has been employed in Australian service. She was a vessel of 6,500 tons.

Steamship New York Wrecked? London, Aug. 20.—The Swansea Leader reports that the British steamship New York City has been sunk. The crew of the vessel has been saved.

Norwegian Ship Torpedoed. London, Aug. 20.—The Spanish steamer Perla Castillo and the Norwegian steamer Svrresborg have been sunk by a submarine. The members of the crew of the Perla Castillo were saved. The fate of others on that craft and those of the Svrresborg is unknown.

Stop Norwegian Mail Ship. Christiania, Norway, Aug. 20.—A German submarine stopped the Norwegian mail steamer Irma, within Norwegian territorial waters yesterday, but the timely appearance of a Norwegian torpedo boat on the scene prevented further interference.

British Submarine Grounded. London, Aug. 20.—Official announcement was made today that a British submarine had grounded in the Sound. Fifteen members of the crew were saved.

and the wide knowledge he had concerning the operations of the Kaiser's armies and the German side of the war, this had strong leanings in favor of the German cause, this despite the fact that he was born in England.

Dr. Woods has no children, his only immediate relatives being his wife and a half-brother, John T. Fitchett, 735 Milton avenue.

Dr. Edmund F. Woods was born at Aldborough, Norfolk, England, in September of 1854. He was but six years of age when he came with his parents to the United States, residing first in Ohio, and later removing to Darlington, Wis. He received his medical education from the Marquette Medical college in 1882, and later took advanced work in the New York Post-Graduate Medical school. He practiced his profession in Darlington until 1888, when he came to Janesville, which has since been his home. He was married in June of 1890 to Miss Margaret Allen of Darlington.

Woods Among Missing. London, Aug. 20.—The information now available indicates that score or more persons lost their lives in the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic by a German submarine yesterday morning on the south coast of Ireland.

Thus far it has not been determined definitely whether any Americans are among the dead. Dr. Edmund F. Woods, of Janesville, Wis., and Mrs. Josephine L. Brugliere, an American who had lived in Europe for some years, are missing.

The White Star line announced this morning that all but eight of the passengers had been rescued. The greater majority of the missing were members of the crew. Captain Wm. Finch of the Arabic gave testimony to the heroism of his engineers, and several of the crew were killed outright at their posts to the last to insure the safety of the passengers and probably sacrificed their lives. Other survivors stated that the torpedo which sank the Arabic hit the boiler room, and several men in the boiler room.

The torpedo struck on the starboard side, about 100 feet from the stern, near location of boiler room. The torpedoing of the Arabic has stirred England from end to end, although on account of the comparatively small loss of life, public feeling does not show signs of running as high as in days following the sinking of the Lusitania.

In Queenstown everything possible was done today to assist the survivors. Many of whom were without clothes or money.

Two Americans Missing. New York, Aug. 20.—Two Americans were still unaccounted for today in the list received here giving the names of those saved from the White Star liner Arabic, torpedoed and sunk yesterday morning off the south coast of Ireland. They were Dr. Edmund F. Woods of Janesville, Wis., and Mrs. Josephine L. Brugliere, a wealthy American widow, who has been living in Europe for some years, but who is well known in New York, Newport and San Francisco.

News Comes Slowly. News regarding the sinking of the Arabic came in slowly at the offices of the White Star line in New York. The reason for this, it was said, was the fact that wartime secrecy cloaks all sailings from British ports until the vessels are well on their way out of the German war zone. Steamers slip in and out of British ports unheralded, with darkness and light and shrouded portholes and steam at top speed through the war zone, boats speeding outward in momentary readiness for a death blow, the line's representatives explained.

P. A. S. Franklin, receiver of the International Mercantile Marine company, which operates the White Star line, declined the Liverpool agents of the line asking that all possible speed be used in forwarding the names of passengers to New York.

Ask for American Names. In another message Mr. Franklin asked the Liverpool agents to send at once the names of Americans aboard.

The line apparently was unprepared for news of the sinking of the Arabic. Within the last three months there have been instances, notably those of the Adriatic, the Baltic, and the Transylvania, when the New York agents of the trans-Atlantic lines have spent many tense moments as their vessels neared the war zone. Wide spread but erroneous rumors were circulated that German submarines had destroyed the vessels or were lying in wait for them off the Irish coast.

No Previous Reports. But there was no advance rumor concerning the Arabic's fate. It was not even known officially here that it had left Liverpool till after the word came that it had been sunk and no passenger list had been prepared here for publication.

The Arabic was one of the largest of the few British vessels remaining in the trans-Atlantic service. It was a 6,500-ton vessel, carrying 1,500 passengers, especially Americans, then in times of peace.

When the Arabic left sailed from Liverpool on July 5, 1915, having been loaded with 1,500 passengers, it was one of the largest steamships engaged in the trans-Atlantic trade.

The Arabic's tonnage is 15,801 gross and 10,062 net. It is 600 feet long, 55 feet beam, and 47 feet in depth. It was built in Belfast in 1903 by Harland & Wolff.

Two Small Ships Sunk. London, Aug. 20.—Two small British steamers, the Restormel and the Baron Erskine have been sunk by German submarines. Both crews were saved.

The Restormel, 1940 tons, was built at Greenpoint in 1901, and owned by J. Corey & Sons, Ltd., company, Cardiff. The Erskine, 3050 tons, was built at Pemberton in 1911. Her owner was the Glasgow Shipping company of Glasgow. The Baron Erskine sailed from New Orleans July 28 for Avonmouth.

COUNTY FAIR BRINGS LARGE CROWD TODAY

Over Six Thousand Attended the Fair and Witnessed Interesting Ball Game and Many Other Attractions.

Evansville, Aug. 20.—Over six thousand people attended the Rock county fair today, surpassing last year's crowd by about a thousand. The baseball game between Footville and Albany was the feature of the day. The score standing 12 to 9. There is the keenest rivalry between these two towns, and although ragged at times the contest was a swinging match in which the Footvillians were the favorites in the outcome. Smith and Silvertown were the battery for Footville and Tease and Jones for Albany. Followers and Christians were the umpires for the day.

The traction engine plowing demonstration attracted a good deal of attention and was witnessed by a large crowd of farmers.

ENTHUSIASM SHOWN ON TOUR TO FARMS

105 COVER SIX FARMS IN COUNTY THIS MORNING.—HAD LUNCHEON AT GRAND AT NOON.

TWENTY-THREE CARS

Party Leaves at Two-thirty to Finish Tour.—Visits Prove an Inspiration to All Attending.

The big farm management demonstration automobile tour of Rock county, which left for the tour, arriving here at one o'clock, which luncheon was taken at the Grand Hotel. Following the luncheon the party left at two-thirty to complete the tour scheduled for today.

The party arrived at the hotel at one o'clock, dusty but instilled with more enthusiasm of what they had seen and heard than they could tell. The trip this morning was an inspiration to them, the farmers visited affording the visiting party every accommodation. At some places apples were passed out, and at the May farm the international champion horses were exhibited. Miss Elizabeth Kelley of the home economics department of Wisconsin University assumed charge of telling the ladies of the home how to make a kept up, while Professor Otis interested the men in the farm buildings and the farm work. The farms visited this morning were those of Charles Laubner, E. Smith, W. J. Douglas, W. T. Moore & Son, E. L. Benedict & Son, and J. Z. Lay. This afternoon the John L. Fisher farm of Janesville, the John W. Clark farm near Milton Junction and E. L. Bingham farm of Milton were visited.

The entire state party visited the farms today with the Beloit and Janesville parties. The party consisted of the following people: A. W. Hargrave and wife of Ripon; Edward J. Yager, Rice Lake; H. A. Main and wife, Port Atkins; J. F. True and wife, Perry; Karlson, J. C. Warner, Madison; K. L. Camblin, Van Buren, Ind.; Prof. and Mrs. D. H. Otis, Miss Elizabeth B. Kelley, R. V. Gunn, Madison; Mrs. Mary Bigelow, Minneapolis; Miss W. H. Clark and wife, Rice Lake; Prof. H. C. Taylor and wife, Madison; Dallas Davis and wife, Monroe; William L. Parsons and P. C. Burdard of Hoard's Dairyman, Fort Atkinson; Mr. P. West, Ripon; John Waelt and wife, Monroe; Miss Florence I. Polley, Madison; William S. Holloway, Henderson, Kentucky; Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gerte, Jefferson; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Maas of Merrill.

Those who accompanied the state party and provided cars for the tour are as follows: J. H. Hallen, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Philm, Mr. and Mrs. Ira J. Mann, Mr. and Mrs. Spicer, Paul Murkland, Mr. and Mrs. William Weick and guest, L. Day, W. T. Ball, G. O. Killeet, G. F. Moran, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Rasey, Harry G. McArthur and wife, Elmer Barth, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Benedict, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Douglas.

James H. V. T. Dooley, Frank Flaherty, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Markham, L. A. Markham, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Craig, Hugh Craig, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Coon, D. C. Coon, Allen B. West, Principal J. M. Gahan, Milton, J. L. William Kammer, Milton Junction, John L. Fisher, W. J. McDowell, Walter Craig, Mr. Wisner.

SWITCHMAN IS HELD FOR NON-SUPPORT

After testimony was taken that the wife and two children had had nothing to eat for a period of two days and credit had been denied them, Edward Meighen, a switchman residing on Chatham street, was held for trial on the charge of wife desertion. The switchman was arrested at his home this morning on the wife's complaint and when arraigned pleaded not guilty to the charge. An examination on the charge was held immediately by the court and after the testimony of Gertrude Meighen, the court found that there was sufficient evidence to hold the defendant for trial. His case was set for August 26th.

The evidence showed that Meighen had refused to provide for his wife and two children, even so far as to deny them the right to obtain supplies at the stores. Only limited testimony was taken by the district attorney in the examination.

STORM TOLL IS NOW FIXED AT 116 DEAD

TODAY'S REPORTS INCREASE NUMBER OF DEAD AND DECREASES NUMBER UNACCOUNTED FOR.

A FEW OTHERS MISSING

Collapse of Hotel at Virginia Point May Add a Dozen More Persons to Death List.—Dredge Crews Saved.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Houston, Aug. 20.—The death list from the Texas coast storm increased slightly today and the missing list decreased considerably. The known death list was 116 today, including 13 drowned in Galveston. Number of bodies were found about Galveston, but they were supposed to be from the main land for the most part.

Twenty Reported Missing. The death toll was increased by a dozen or more, when the Virginia Point hotel collapse is cleared up. Twenty persons are listed as missing in this collapse and up to today no trace of missing has been reported here.

Reports indicate that the thirty persons listed yesterday as missing at Bolivar, a town of about 1,000 inhabitants, on the east side of Galveston Bay, appeared today for aid, saying that only three houses remained in their town. This committee estimated that 10,000 people were crowded in Chamber county, where Wallace is situated. They said there is worry over the fate of seventy inhabitants who escaped to a peninsula jutting out into the bay, which seemed to be submerged during the storm.

A. G. Fredericks of Dallas, and E. J. Witt of Houston, who were in the Virginia Point hotel when it collapsed, were washed out to sea for several hours and then washed back again by a change of wind. This hotel is now the main land and at the head of the Galveston causeway. They drifted on a piece of wreckage when it collapsed. The freakish wind turned them almost to the site of the hotel, so that refugees who escaped to the hotel to the railroad tower, were able to toss Witt a chair tied to a wire and towed him to safety. Fredericks was badly bruised all over.

May Prehibit Travel. General Franklin Bell, commanding the second division of the United States army at Texas City, has written to Mayor Ben Campbell of Houston that travel will be prohibited from Houston to Texas City and Galveston be prohibited unless they are concerned in the welfare of relatives in either city. General Bell told the city that unless they are concerned in the welfare of relatives from the mainland enter the city, unless they have a good excuse for landing.

Texas City, the general said, is a very important point and will handle crowds of curiosity seekers. Unless people are traveling with urgent necessity, General Bell wrote Mayor Campbell that he will be compelled to enforce a restrictive order under the martial law already existing in Texas City.

The burning of bodies of dead animals has been begun outside of Houston and many other sections of the coast. The first batch of telegrams out of Galveston arrived here by courier last night. There were fifteen hundred of these messages.

Supplies Rushed Forward. Houston, Aug. 20.—With bread and other food supplies from neighboring cities reaching Galveston and a promise that railroad communications with the city soon would be resumed, less than a dozen people were left in the state officials, and people here are more interested in the relief of the distressed city than at any time since it was known Galveston had been overwhelmed with the disaster of wind and water.

As late messages arrived confirming reports that conditions in the city were such that little outside aid would be necessary, it was decided that the force of the hurricane.

A compilation of reports of various cities outside of Galveston early today showed a list of 101 known dead and a missing list of 168. Of these missing it was feared that more than half had perished. With reports that the crews of the dredge boats Sam Houston and San Jacinto were safe, the missing list was cut down to about 100.

First Boat Makes Trip. The first boat to make a round trip between Houston and Galveston, which was turned here last night, after having taken more than twenty-four hours for the journey. That train will be running into Texas City on regular schedules and sent six miles across the bay to Galveston today, were announced by the railroad officials here today. Two trains made the trip to Texas City yesterday. A reassuring statement of conditions in the storm swept area was issued here by Governor Ferguson, who has been taking charge of the general relief work.

My information is that the loss of life is not great and the local authorities will be able to handle the situation without outside assistance," the statement says. Work of clearing up the debris left in the wake of the storm and of repairing damage was under way in many places.

SECONDS SEPARATE DRIVERS AT ELGIN IN RECORD CLASSIC

Anderson Leads at 201 Mile Mark. But Cooper Goes Ahead as Anderson Delays in Pit.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Elgin, Ill., Aug. 20.—In the three hundred mile automobile race here today, the two men who made the least time were: Anderson, 2:37:51; Cooper, 2:38:19; Oldfield, 2:45:02.

Anderson's rate was 71.8 miles per hour. On the next round he lost the lead to Cooper by a delay at the pit. During the fight for the lead, the drivers were never more than five seconds apart.

HARRIS CONSIDERS STEPS TO BE TAKEN

Georgia's Governor Calls Conference to Determine Plan of Action to Apprehend Frank's Lynchers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 20.—Having offered a reward of $15,000 for the arrest of three persons convicted in connection with the lynching of Leo M. Frank, Governor Nat E. Harris will call a conference in Atlanta of the officials of the state to determine what steps to be taken to apprehend the lynchings.

Guard Oak Tree. Marietta, Ga., Aug. 20.—Watchmen today were guarding the big oak tree two miles from here on which the lifeless body of Leo M. Frank, convicted of the murder of Mary Phagan, was found dangling last Tuesday morning. The tree is to be surrounded with a concrete wall, it is announced, and thus preserved by the state. W. J. French, to mark the death place of the alleged slayer of the Phagan girl.

SENATOR STEVENSON ON A FISHING TRIP

Although 87 Years of Age He Takes His Annual Trip to Headwaters of Escanaba River.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Marquette, Aug. 20.—Former Senator Isaac Stevenson is making preparation for his annual fishing trip down the Escanaba river. He will leave next Tuesday for the headwaters with a party of thirty friends, with guides, boatmen and others. Going into the water early Wednesday morning, he will travel the river over sixty miles until Sunday, camping on the river bank each night.

Former President Taft was invited, but owing to his Pacific coast trip is unable to accept. Governor Peck will be one of the guests. Senator Stevenson has made this fishing trip for many years, and although approaching his 87th birthday is as keen as a boy over the coming one.

GALVESTON STORM HEADED THIS WAY

Federal Weather Bureau Says Ohio Valley and Lower Lake Region Due to Be Hit.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Aug. 20.—The tropical storm which has been the cause of life after recurring over east Texas, the weather bureau today reports. "It is central this morning over southeast Missouri with increased intensity and heavy rains and by local high winds.

"The storm will move northeastward attended by rain from the lake region and Ohio valley eastward until Saturday. There will be also high winds in the Ohio valley and lake region, and storm warnings have been ordered for lower lakes, Lake Huron and south Lake Michigan."

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Aug. 20.—Upon the condition that he return to his home in Chicago, and be law-abiding, William Allen, sentenced to the Dane county jail, Feb. 11, 1915, for eight months for operating a confidence game, has been pardoned by Governor Philipp.

BULGARIAN WAR MINISTER RESIGNS—ILL HEALTH CAUSE

SLAVS LOSE ANOTHER BIG STRONGHOLD

GERMANS CAPTURE NOVOGEORGIEVSK, IMPORTANT FORTRESS ON VISTULA RIVER.

CAPTURE 20,000 MEN

Surrender Follows Two Weeks of Stubborn Fighting in Which Big Siege Guns Deliver Destruction.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Berlin, via London, Aug. 20.—Official announcement was made today of the capture of the important Russian fortress of Novogeorgievsk, with more than 20,000 men. The statement follows:

"The fortress of Novogeorgievsk, the enemy's last bulwark in Poland, has been captured after stubborn resistance. The entire garrison, including over 20,000 men, and an enormous stock of war materials fell into our hands. The emperor left for Novogeorgievsk in order to give the thanks of himself and fatherland to the leader of the attack, General Von Beseler, and his troops."

Surrender Expected. Novogeorgievsk's fall has been foreseen since the fall of Warsaw. When the general offensive was made from the Warsaw salient, Grand Duke Nicholas, the Russian commander in chief, elected to leave a garrison in the fortress rather than evacuate this position, as it was an important one. The only question was how long the defenders would be able to hold out. The Grand Duke's decision apparently was due to the strategic position of the fortress. So long as the Russians retained it, they were able to stop communication on the Vistula river. Novogeorgievsk is nineteen miles from the Warsaw salient, Grand Duke Nicholas, the Russian commander in chief, elected to leave a garrison in the fortress rather than evacuate this position, as it was an important one. The only question was how long the defenders would be able to hold out. The Grand Duke's decision apparently was due to the strategic position of the fortress. So long as the Russians retained it, they were able to stop communication on the Vistula river.

Invested for Two Weeks. For nearly two weeks the fortress had been invested by the Germans and several of the outlying fortresses were captured earlier this week. Novogeorgievsk was strongly defended and was said to have been equipped with sufficient food, ammunition and supplies for a long period.

Its speedy capture doubtless represents another triumph for German and Austrian siege guns. Pieces of the heavy caliber were brought up for the attack.

The Russian retreat from Poland is reported to be attended by unprecedented misery among the civil population. The German officers returning to headquarters report thousands upon thousands of Poles returning in utter want to destroyed villages. Thousands of wagons and refugees blocked the roads, and the German army, which mothers with children vainly seeking food.

May Move Russ Capital. London, Aug. 20.—As the Austrians and Germans press on to the outlying fortresses standing between the Russian capital and the invaders, Petrograd is discussing the advisability of removing the government to its ancient seat of Moscow, which is considered the heart of the nation.

Kovno is now definitely in the hands of the Germans. The flanking force of Field Marshal Von Mackensen now threatens to cut off the forces in the Lithuanian zone. It is believed here no forward movement of consequence is likely unless the British are re-enforced considerably.

Italy May Fight Turks. Italy and Turkey appear to be on the brink of an open rupture. The Italian public expects a war, which would give their army and navy an opportunity to co-operate with the allies in the Dardanelles movement.

On the western front, the French now hold the crossed between Lens and Arras, which, when in possession of the Germans, formed a wedge in the allies line.

WHITE SOX DEFEAT BOSTON, SCORE 2-1

Trample on Boston Team for Second Straight Victory—Cubs Hand
Game to Brooklyn.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Another victory over the Boston Red Sox today will put the Chicago White Sox right within speaking distance of first place, providing Philadelphia will wallop the rampant Tigers. After the Boston series, which closes today, comes New York for three games, and the Sox always have the better number on their home grounds. Then comes Washington, and if the Sox can get away with the senators as they have done in the past on their own lot, they should be rooting on first place before the next week is over. Philadelphia comes the last of the month and so far the Mackmen have been soft pickings for the Sox. The Chicago clubbers are weakened through injury as Fournier is out and F. Collins playing first and Leibold playing left field in Collins' place.

The Sox won a tight game yesterday by the score of 2 to 1, and the gap between first and third place is widened up a knot more. Foster gave the Sox a mighty tough argument and he with Faber mixed in a pitching duel full of thrills. Eddie Collins and "Happy" Fournier were the main defenders for the Sox, for each snuffed off defeat by brilliant catches, and Collins and Schalk pulled the game out of the hole in the ninth by a brilliant play. Faber in the second inning showed up the Red Sox after Gardner soaked a triple and then the Sox pitcher fanned the next two. The Sox counted in their half when Leibold singled and Fournier singled, driving the Sox out of the hole. Schalk dumped a perfect bunt for a squeeze play and scored the runner. The lead of one run stuck through the fielding of the Sox. Blackburn let the enemy tie it up in the sixth when he muffed a foul and the batter singled. The Sox untied the knot in their half when J. Collins walked, stole second and then Fournier singled and brought the winning run home. Scott will probably draw the pitching assignment today.

Errors Beat Cubs.
Brooklyn, Aug. 20.—The Cubs gave the Brooklyn team a 6 to 1 contest yesterday as the Robins scored five of their six runs on errors in the sixth and eighth innings. The Chicagoans deserved to win the game for they played better off the mound and used Nap Rucker roughly when he mounted to the pitching slab. Cheney helped the Cubs to defeat along with boots by Good and Fischer.

St. Louis, Aug. 20.—The injunction restraining Armando Marsans from playing with the St. Louis Federals was dissolved by Judge Dyer in the federal court yesterday afternoon. An injunction was made by the Cincinnati team to prevent the Cuban player from jumping to the St. Louis Feds. The arguments for appeal came up today.

TRAP HONORS WILL BE DECIDED TODAY

Janesville Men Do Not Make Winning Showing—Six Are Tied For the High Score Yesterday.

Janesville shooters did not come within sight of the high honors at the Grand American handicap, Chicago, yesterday and today. It was impossible to complete the hundred bird event yesterday and the trapmen competed for eighty birds Thursday and twenty more will be shot at today. The record entry list necessitated the two days' shooting in the championship tourney.

L. Nickerson was high among the Janesville men who competed, breaking 70 out of the eighty. Nickerson started poorly breaking but 16 and 17 in the first two twenty bird events and then breaking 18 and 19 in the last two events. R. D. Jones broke 65, H. L. McNamara broke 64, J. Heimer broke 64, and H. S. Thometz broke 64 out of 80. As the result of the ruling to shoot at only 80 targets yesterday, six gunners were tied for high honors to decide the championship today. C. W. Beers of Rockford, who has often competed at the Janesville event, made a strong bid for high honors yesterday when he broke sixty straight targets but fell down in his fourth event. In general the shooting was poor considering the number of cracks that were gathered for the classic.

Branch Rickey, boss of the St. Louis Browns, has started to rebuild his team and all his new material is being secured from the colleges. College players, as a rule, are better and more gentlemanly than the sand lot players, asserts Rickey, and there's just as much natural ability among the collegians as there is among the youths who come from small town teams. Connie Mack built a wonderful machine with raw material secured from various colleges, and I hope to do likewise. Furthermore, a college player cannot be secured for almost nothing in comparison with what one must pay now for a highly touted minor league player.

MORRIS MILLER

The Cincinnati club has shown a great liking for Northwestern league players, as its list of drafts and purchases for the past three years shows. It took De Witt Douglas, Barham, Narveson, Klippert, Douglas, Williams and Ingersoll from the Northwestern. In 1914 it got Schneider and Wagner, while this year it has taken from first to second, with the possibility of others to come. President Herrmann's club has spent a total of $18,700 for Northwestern players in the three years, which is quite an item.

I have been asked time without number, says Buck Herzog, "why I don't have the boys scatters offener. My reason is simply this: We are so taken with Williams and McKenry, with unreliable bat, and so destitute of long, driving hitters, that we would profit but little by sacrificing to take a man from first to second. With such a club it is better, I believe, to whale away, in hope that a good, decent hit may come through, than to waste one man just to gain a sacrifice cushion for a single runner. The Cubs and two or three other clubs can and should use the sacrifice bunt right along, because they have long hitters coming up who can be relied upon to send the man home from second—we haven't any Sauer, nor any Zimmerman, so there we are."

President John Powers of the Los Angeles club told the erratic Harry Jasper a very expensive proposition. In fact he figured it cost him about $2,500 for the one game Jasper pitched for the Angels. This included the price paid to the Chicago White Sox for his release, transportation, money advanced, the cost of trip east that Powers made to coax Jasper in line and incidentals. Jasper pitched one game, then quit the team in Salt Lake City and returned to his home in St. Louis, where at last accounts he was again doing that Rube Waddell stuff of pitching for semi-pro teams on town lots. The Los Angeles club agreed to pay Jasper $400 a month and paid him two months' salary, but Jasper seems to prefer to pick up $25 a week and be around his old St. Louis haunts.

Hanes Kolehmainen, the wonderful Finnish runner, trains on a peculiar diet. He eats nothing but soft boiled eggs, tea, toast and ice cream. He eats it for breakfast, for luncheon and for dinner. Day after day, week after week, the Finn subsists on eggs, toast, ice cream and tea—just that and nothing more.

Evansville, Aug. 20.—Janesville horses proved their superiority yesterday at Evansville in the Rock county fair races, when Mabel Riser, belonging to F. F. Siegel, took three firsts in the three heats of the second division 2:18 trot for purse of $300, and Miss Logan 2nd, owned by Dr. G. C. Wauffe, captured three firsts in the three heats of the 2:25 pace for a purse of $400. Time in the first race as 2:17 1/2, 2:18 1/2, and 2:19 1/2; in the other, 2:15 1/2, 2:14 1/2, and 2:16 1/2.

Dr. Wauffe's horse, Miss Logan 2nd, won one of the speediest races ever staged at the county fair, and the horse is recognized as one of the best on the tracks this year. Among some of the starters which the local horse was pitted against, were horses from the Patch stables, famous the world over, and other record breaking horses.

The races were called at 1:30 p. m., and owing to the large number of starters in the 2:18 trot the race was run in two divisions. The 2:18 trot, 2:25 pace, 2:15 1/2, 2:14 1/2, and 2:16 1/2.

The judging was completed in all departments with the exception of the poultry which, owing to the enormous number of entries could not be completed until today noon. Superintendent of Poultry Wilder has introduced a novel feature into his department this year, offering special premiums for the best display of white and dark shelled eggs in plates of ten. This has evidently created much interest with poultry fanciers, as evidenced by the large number of entries many coming by parcels post from towns in Rock and adjoining counties.

The shows on the midway did a thriving business. The Better Baby Contest were announced at the fair grounds this morning. The scores in Class A, which includes babies from 1 to 2 years of age, were as follows: Class A—Philip Watson Smith 1st, score 98 per cent; James Ford Parkers 2nd, score 97 1/2 per cent; Robert Howard Porter 3rd, score 96 1/2 per cent.

In Class B, which includes babies from 2 to 3 years of age, were: Marion Leon Gibbs 1st, score 97 per cent; Alice Harriet Pease 2nd, score 95 1/2 per cent; Carlton Joseph Eastman 3rd, score 94 per cent.

Thirty-one babies were entered, the lowest scoring 91 per cent, and the highest 98 per cent. In each class a silver cup was given to the first place and a silver spoon to the second. An additional award was given by the Woman's Home Companion, the first premiums receiving a bronze medal and the second premiums a certificate.

Tomorrow is Edgerton and Oregon day. A game of baseball between these two towns is scheduled at 1:30 a. m. The races will be called at 1:30, and the race card for this day shows the strongest races of the week, being the 2:13 pace, 2:17 pace and free for all.

up the home life, and his early youth was spent upon the farms of his grandfather and uncle until the outbreak of the Civil War. Unable to enlist at once owing to the objection of his father, he worked in a shoe factory in Boston until the spring of 1863 when he finally enlisted in Company D 58th, Massachusetts.

He was detailed to work as clerk in Faneuil Hall in December while the regiment was still in camp at Readville, Massachusetts, and continued there until the regiment was called to the front April 25th, 1864.

Six days later he went into the Wilderness fight and afterwards was under fire at Spottsylvania, Cold Harbor, Weiden railroad, and at the siege of Petersburg.

After being mustered out with his regiment, he returned to the shoe factory. November 28, 1866 he married Miss Isabel F. Peckham and the next spring came west locating at Evansville June 10, 1867.

For two years he worked in a general store and then in company with M. V. Pratt started a grocery business.

This partnership lasted until Mr. Gray sold out in 1883 to continue the boot and shoe business. He finally disposed of this also and has confined himself to less active interests that time, among them being Vice President of the Bank of Evansville as directed in that institution.

On September 23, 1878, Mrs. Gray died. Mr. Gray was married a second time on May 18, 1879 to Miss Emma J. Rowley. To this union were born four children, Orrin, Carlisle, Ellis Wells, Paul Rowley, and Isabel Bernice (Waddell) Ellis, died in infancy.

Aside from the many offices conferred upon him by the city of which he was a resident, he has been a member of the County Board of Supervisors for several years and was chosen for two successive terms as chairman of the board, 1913-1914, 1914-1915. He also for nearly thirty years has been a member of the Rock County Soldiers Relief Commission.

Mr. Gray gave much of his time and service to the support of the Baptist Church of which he was a member and for a long period, trustee. He also held membership in the Methodist Episcopal, in the United Lodge No. 32 F. & A. M., Evansville Chapter No. 35 R. A. M., Janesville Commandery No. 2 Knight Templar. He has been an active worker in G. A. R. circles, particularly in T. L. Surphon Post No. 41 and at the time of his death was commander of that Post, a position which he has faithfully served for many years.

A classic burial with Knight Templar-escort will be held from the home on Church street Sunday at 2:30.

ing and you cannot tell Janesville fans that Bob can be beaten with the right kind of support. And the support is going to be honest and true. Mussen is behind the plate and the Madison catcher needs only a little more "pep" in his base throwing to qualify as being a winner. For first, there will be Joe Nelson, and right there is one of the best infielders that fans have seen this year. He is a left hander and can pick off throws, both good and bad and indifferent, and above all he is in the game to the finish, pulling every minute. Much is expected of Nelson for the remaining games of the Cardinals' schedule.

"Denny" Blake, the Polvander, a cold an, will be at second and the name of Blake is sufficient. He is an experienced player, rarely misses, and is about the best batter on the Cardinals line at the present time. Joe Ryan of this city, will play short, and the fans are pulling for him to make good. Last Sunday he trounced out two hits, and fielded without an error. Ryan has left off his haymaker swing at batting and as a result is hitting the ball instead of fanning. Kernen will play third and he is proving the star of the team. Morrissey, Chamberlain and Lampert will be in the outer garden. All of these fly-chasers are slugging the ball at a merry rate. The Red Sox play the U. S. Army team two games, Saturday and Sunday. Lafferty is billed to pitch one of the games.

FACTS VERSUS FICTION.

The demand of the German Alliance organization throughout the country that the government cease its shipment of munitions of war to the belligerent powers of Europe, continues to be heard despite the lucid explanation of Secretary of State Lansing as to the why and wherefore that it is impossible. It is a case of facts versus fiction continually and now at the time when some of the leading journals of the country are going into detail as to the espionage of the government and the exposure of the alleged attempts to incite labor troubles in various American factories, such petitions are decidedly out of place.

One of the greatest exponents of peace on earth and good will toward man is the Christian Science Monitor. Yet, despite its doctrines, it published the following editorial which clearly defines the attitude of this government as to the manufacture and exportation of munitions of war to the European combatants. Just at this time this explanation is interesting.

In its note of protest to the United States, under date of June 29, 1915, the government of Austria-Hungary set up the novel contention that the United States government was not maintaining, as it professed, a policy of strict neutrality in the present European war, in that it was permitting manufacture in its factories, and shipment from its ports, of arms and ammunition intended for nations at war with the Teutonic empires, the latter, by reason of their inability to import such war supplies, being deprived of equal privileges with nations enjoying the freedom of the seas. In its reply of August 12 the United States takes immediate cognizance of this assertion of an obligation on its part to change or to modify the rules of international usage on account of special conditions, and promptly and fully refuses to accede to the demand. An obligation of this sort, it is held by Secretary of State Robert Lansing, is unknown to international law in the past and, if recognized, would impose upon every neutral nation a duty to sit in judgment on the progress of a war and to restrict its commercial intercourse with a belligerent whose naval successes prevented the neutral from trading with the enemy.

In the Austro-Hungarian note the attitude of the United States, declaring that Germany and its associates were free to continue to buy war supplies in United States markets, was severely criticized on the ground that the inability of Germany and its colleagues to take advantage of those markets was well understood. To tell them that they might do that, which was impossible for them was declared absurd. To put it into the language of the American note, the contention of the Vienna note "appears to be that the advantages gained by a belligerent by its superiority on the sea should be equalized by the neutral powers by the establishment of a system of non-intercourse with the victor." Washington holds, and properly we think, that the idea of a strict neutrality advanced in the Austrian note—the idea of equalization of conditions by neutral powers—would "involve a neutral nation in a mass of perplexities which would obscure the whole field of international obligation, produce economic confusion and deprive all commerce and industry of legitimate fields of enterprise already heavily burdened by the unavoidable restrictions of war." So long as nations engage in war, war's penalties are inevitable. What the United States is doing now in the matter of war munition supply has been done by all other nations by Austria-Hungary and Germany with the rest. The comparison between the Boer war and the present conflict in this particular connection, referred to in the American note, is directly to the point. That Austria-Hungary and Germany have manufactured and shipped munitions to nations at war with apparent disregard of neutrality does not, of course, justify the existence of the war supply business; it simply establishes the fact that it is a business, a regularly established and legitimate business, and that it will continue so long as the civilized world tolerates war.

The reasons advanced by the United States for maintaining the right to manufacture and ship arms and ammunition are we believe the strongest that can be presented. That nation maintains no great military establishment. By reason of its non-militant policy it would be, if attacked, greatly embarrassed, in the beginning at least, by lack of arms and ammunition if denied the right of purchasing them abroad. Because it is not a military nation, it must, if given to it, look to other nations for supplies. The right which it claims for itself it cannot, as Mr. Lansing says, refuse to others.

It should be understood by the casual observer and reader that the United States government, as such, is not engaged in the selling of arms or ammunition to any other government. It has sacrificed great money profit by refusing to sell its stock of superseded rifles. Its people, industrially and commercially, are, however, engaged in the manufacture and sale and exportation of munitions. If the government at Washington should undertake to prevent the exportation of war supplies absolutely it would be necessary to close the ports of the country to all intercourse with the belligerent nations and with all other nations having intercourse with them. It would have to shut up shop while its neighbors were quarreling. And no matter how much the citizens of the United States deplore the manufacture and sale of war munitions on moral grounds, until the whole world is ready to cease from wars it is better that neutral nations should make war material on occasional demand than that they should refuse to do so. All nations, great and small, into a policy that involves a world armament that shall be not only gigantic and constant but also universal.

The United States cannot turn from the policy it has always pursued, with respect to supplying war munitions, without involving itself in very serious complications. Its markets are open to all alike. It cannot safely discriminate against the refusal of them. It cannot undertake to maintain balances. It must face the conditions thrust upon it. These conditions are not to its liking. In the eyes of the great majority of its people they are deplorable. The traffic created by the European war demands is not desirable, but behind it is a responsibility that cannot be evaded or shirked. The United States today stands for world peace as no other nation on earth at any other time has stood. If its proposals are now rejected and ignored, the time is coming when they will not be. In proportion to its ability to deal squarely with those directly engaged in the conflict—in proportion to the integrity of its position, the firmness of its decision to stand for the right at all costs—it will be able when the present period of frenzy shall have given way to international sanity to press forward its ideals of a peace that will be world-wide and permanent.

REMEMBER THE FAIR.

Tomorrow is the last day of the Rock county fair now being held in Evansville. It behooves every loyal citizen of the county to pay their respects to the management by attending this annual exhibit of the products of Rock county. It is not the Evansville fair—it is the Rock county fair. Within its borders at all, the business men of Evansville took the matter up, revived the charter of the old county fair association and kept alive the flame. It is due these men they be given loyal support for their efforts in the past. There is plenty of room for the Janesville fair and the Rock County fair within the same county and the exhibits displayed at Evansville deserve the attention of the community as a whole.

CITY'S ASSESSMENT SHOWS A DECREASE

FIGURES GIVEN OUT TODAY PLACE JANESVILLE'S VALUATION AT $15,354,077.

OMITS WATER WORKS

Exemption of Municipality Owned Property Amounting to $250,000, Makes Assessment Really an Increase.

Janesville's assessed valuation totals $15,354,077, a decrease of $21,729.00 as compared to the figures of last year, $15,375,806, but when it is considered that the value of the Janesville water works, around $50,000 is not figured in the valuation this year, there is a decided increase. These figures were submitted to City Clerk J. P. Hammarlund by City Assessor Frank L. Smith this morning and will form the basis upon which the tax levy for the coming year will be made. The annual budget or yearly appropriations is made by the council in October and the rate of taxes is made from the above total.

The report shows that the personal property in the city amounts to $24,920.00 and city property, which includes all planted and bloomed property amounts to $10,773,215.00 and farming land to the amount of $2,444,193. There are 810 horses in the city valued at $78,945; 254 cows with the value of $10,740; 27 swine, $410 and 1 sheep, $20. The trend of the times to invest in automobiles is well shown by the fact that there are 427 autos owned in Janesville and their assessed valuation is $223,870. There are 202 motor cycles valued at $18,810. The other figures were: 702 wagons, 100 carriages, $23,615; merchant's stock, $722,615; manufacturer's stock, $544,835; 2,613 cases of tobacco valued at $11,065.00; 58 launches, $5920. Franchises (electric and gas company), $721,825; bank stock, $226,421.

'Nother Unnecessary Noise. There is a young man not more than a thousand miles from Lyons, who drives a horse that whineys when he hears a horse talk or make him a nuisance or disturbing the peace.—Lyons Herald.

Life's Little Ironies. Being excused from the office on account of a severe headache and then meeting the boss at the ball game an hour later.

Taking long odds on a horse that misses first and then discovering that you have lost your ticket.

Buying a new spring shape in millinery and finding upon your arrival home that your maid has got one just like it.

Having a friend strike you for $5 just as you were about to ask him for $10.

Getting a letter addressed in fine, feminine handwriting and finding that it is only a bill from your plumber.

Notes.

It takes more than a German note to get a my and get my goat. The English notes do not make me go bang myself or seek the sea. The diplomatic letters punk, realize are mostly bunk.

But there was one that does not fail. Each month to reach me by the mail. The only one I really fear. It turns this life from gay to drear. It sends me hither to my friends—That caustic note my tailor sends.

You Have Our Consent, John. John Wanamaker's plan to buy Belgium may be all right. Let John go ahead and buy it.

THE DAILY NOVELETTE.

"The ugly, wild-eyed wretch, Did watch as he did stretch, His wearied, tired body, And no sound did he hear." From "Hales of Toffman."

"Zounds!" he muttered with blood-thirsty impatience. "I could have sworn he was here. I've looked in four rooms now."

The thick, growing shadows were the only sound that he heard. This sound was that he who sought, followed. For to his trained ear they meant only one thing.

The snoring grew louder, fiercer, and he who sought chuckled loudly.

"At last!" he thought, and with scarcely a sound entered the bedroom where Felix Wizenmayer lay in a drunken stupor.

For a moment of delicious anticipation, he who sought poised his weapon directly above Felix Wizenmayer's bloated head.

Then, as he plunged it deep into the sleeping, son's rubicund nose, the dissolute young mosquito emitted a drunken, "Bzzzz!"

18 YEAR OLD SON ADMITS MURDERING FATHER IN WAUSAU

Alfred Wehrley Confesses to Slaying Father in Bed, to Secure Admission to Home After Rejection.

Wausau, Wis., Aug. 20.—Alfred Wehrley, son of Peter Wehrley, who was shot dead in bed Thursday morning, today confessed that he was the murderer. He had been held on suspicion since the crime was committed. He said his motive was to secure admission to his father's home from which he had been rejected. He is eighteen years old.

For three months he has been living at the Adams House, having been put out of his father's home because the two could not agree. He has been doing odd jobs to support himself. According to his confession he went to the home about eleven o'clock Wednesday night when the family was out. The key to the front door had been left in the mail box as was the custom. He entered, went out the back door, locked the front door, and put the key back into the box, re-entered by way of the back door, locked it and crawled under his father's bed. At about one o'clock when his father and mother seemed to be asleep, he crawled out. As he stood beside the bed the father moved and started to rise. The boy fired, and then dashed out the back door and walked a mile down the railroad track to "Strollers" bridge, where he threw the revolver into the river. He then walked back to the Adams House and went to bed. Suspicion pointed toward the son because of the fact that a short time before he had been refused re-admission to the home and had been refused. His shoes were damp when arrested, and he did not explain this. He said he secured the revolver from a tramp he met on a train between here and Northfield, Wis. The boy had been attending high school but left school before the end of last term. The only other child is an older son, Oscar.

The confession was made to District Attorney E. Gorman, and a representative of a detective agency of Milwaukee.

Don't Say You don't like Tea

It is possible that YOU never have tasted GOOD TEA. Tea is a popular beverage among discriminating people the world over, and has been used as a beverage for more than 5,000 years. Would it be so universally in demand for so many thousands of years if it did not have beautiful and satisfying properties peculiar to itself?

It is a duty to yourself to give tea a fair trial. Get a tin of Arbuckle Brand tea, be sure to get good tea.

Only "first crop" teas are packed under the Arbuckle Brand—and "first crop" is the very best cup quality of tea. Anyone who does not know what "good tea" is will be enlightened when drinking a cup made from these expert selections with their more and more satisfying flavor and delightful fragrant bouquet.

Under the Arbuckle Brand you get a fine grade of tea at a moderate price—choice selections from the tea gardens of Japan, China, Ceylon, India, Formosa and Java—every variety—always a good quality.

In 1-lb., 1/2-lb. and 1/4-lb. Cansisters

The surest way to get good tea in good condition is to buy Arbuckle Brand Tea from your grocer. It is easy to make delicious tea from any variety.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM VERY SERIOUS INJURIES

Three year old Joseph Hazen, son of Reverend and Mrs. Joseph C. Hazen of North High Street had a narrow escape from a serious injury on Wednesday, when he fell from a second story window to the ground, escaping with a bruise. Painters were at work in the room and the little chap went to the window when playing with a rug, evidently expecting to find a screen in its place. He tumbled out and fell to the ground, the rug breaking the force of the fall somewhat. Nothing was known of the accident until he called his mother to come and get him after it was all over.

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH CAMERON

Following one of the most sensational match races the horse world has witnessed in recent years, a Cleveland, Ohio, colt named "William" was crowned king of the pacers. In the first heat of the race, "William" won around in 1:55 1/2, a new world's record for a five-year-old pacer. His second heat in 2:00 was another world's record, and his combined average time of 1:58 1/2 is a world mark for a five-year-old pacer.

Every now and then some writer breaks out in one of the magazines in a fever of worry lest there be too much practical education and too few cultural studies in our schools and colleges.

The writers usually talk diffusely and in beautifully general terms about what a tragedy it would be if young people learned how to do something well instead of getting mental discipline and a broad outlook.

They tell us that it may be important to learn how to look at life. He was never up against it.

Whenever I read an article like that I say to myself, "I don't believe that person was ever up against the financial realities very hard." He says it is a terrible thing to sacrifice our young people's broad outlook on life by teaching them to earn their bread and butter. He evidently doesn't know what it means to be so harassed by the dominant necessity of getting that bread and butter for yourself and probably several others that one can think of nothing but the need of it. How much good does a broad outlook do a man whose life is narrowed down to a moment-to-moment struggle to make both ends meet?

He is afraid we will make the next generation too practical, too much interested in money. He doesn't realize that nothing makes one so painfully interested in money as having to count pennies and limit one's simplest actions by the result of the count.

Trade education need not absolutize. Cut out cultural studies, although it will, of course, diminish the time for them. Besides there is one fact these anxious reactionaries seem to lose sight of, and that is that learning to do something well and intelligently, even though the something be done with the hands, is considerable mental discipline in itself.

Of course it is important to learn how to live as well as how to earn the wherewithal to sustain life, but that knowledge does not necessarily come entirely from cultural studies. I have known more than one manual worker who knew more about how to live, who had a quicker mind and a more thoughtful philosophy of life, than most of the college graduates who have had their all of cultural studies and mental disciplines.

To my mind, there is more misery in the world that comes from the fact that millions of people have to muddle along on a pittance, because they don't know how to do anything well, than from almost any other single cause. I am a college graduate and I love my college, but I think if I should die with money to let me contribute to philanthropy it would be left to further the cause of the trade school and practical education in general.

Many of my letter friends send me such interesting comments that it does not seem fair to keep them to myself. So I have decided to devote a little space now and then to passing them on.

You remember I wrote you some weeks ago on how to make children mind. A letter friend sends this contribution:

"Jacob Abbott gave in one of his books this rule for a young girl who had the oversight of a little sister: 'When you consent, consent cordially; when you refuse, refuse finally; when you punish, punish goodnaturedly; commend often, never scold.'"

Glimpses of Married Life

By MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Come over to the car and meet my wife," said Mr. Jaynes, when he had grasped Mrs. Morton's hand as it had been a pump handle, and worked it up and down.

"Gertrude," he called in a loud, hearty voice, "here are some of the fairport citizens."

Mrs. Jaynes extended a plump hand that was as early as bursting a glove a size too small for her, and said in affected tones:

"I'm happy, I'm sure. I'm down to see the architect—she pronounced it 'arch'—to look over plans for our new house. We are going to have the modernest house in Fairport. It's to have a special stairway."

"Do you live here?" she added, for the tall, gaunt woman made no reply and was regarding her with scant favor.

"No, I was on the way to take the morning train home. I must get down for harvesters."

"Get right in here; I'll take you to the station," said Jaynes cordially, opening the tonneau door.

"Thank you, I'm not much of a friend of these buzzing, sporting things; they get on my nerves."

He was not liking for being shot through the air at forty miles an hour. In the home on the ground and there, plenty of time to walk to the train.

"Now, I want to show you that my Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 24, 1914.—My husband had a rash all over his body, and soon the whole family was in the same condition. It looked scaly and raised up the arms and body in big bumps. This trouble burned and itched so that it would nearly drive one crazy. It was always worse at night, so we could not sleep. We all had this trouble for about two or three years, and during that time tried many remedies and prescriptions with no results. We tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and it RELIEVED AT ONCE. Before the third jar of ointment had been used, we were all completely cured. It has been four months since we were cured, and there are no traces of the trouble."

Every druggist sells Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and physicians have prescribed them for 20 years in the treatment of skin troubles.

Cut This Out—It Is Worth Money

Cut out this advertisement, enclose 5 cents to Foley & Co., 2533 Sheffield Ave., Chicago, Ill., writing your name and address clearly. You will receive in return a trial package containing:

(1) Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, the standard family remedy for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, tightness and soreness in chest, grippe and bronchial coughs.

(2) Foley Kidney Pills, for overworked and disordered kidneys and bladder ailments, pain in sides and back due to kidney trouble, sore muscles, stiff joints, backache and rheumatism.

(3) Foley Cathartic Tablets, a wholesome and thoroughly cleansing cathartic. Especially comforting to stout persons and a sure remedy for every body with sluggish bowels and torpid liver. You can try these three family remedies for only 5 cents.

layers. First a layer of grape leaves, then cucumbers, then dill; repeat until crock is full or as much as you have. Have grape leaves on top. Then pour over a very warm (not hot) brine of half boiled water and vinegar, with enough salt to float an egg. Weight pickles with a plate and stone. Keep in warm place for three or four days and they are ready for use.

For winter use: Pack fruit jars with small, clean cucumbers, scatter dill among them, then add a tablespoon of salt to every quart jar, fill with warm water, put on cap and set in sun; keep turning until all are yellow, then tighten cap and put away for winter.

THE TABLE.

Cabbage and Noodles—Cut cabbage fine (not as fine as for slaw), have a little lard in pan; when hot, add cabbage, salt and pepper, and just a little water to keep from burning; cover and let steam. Make noodles, cut in little squares, boil in salt water, drain, add to cabbage when cabbage is cooked. Mix together. There should be no water on it when done.

Sweet Potato Puff—Place two cups finely mashed sweet potatoes in a sauce pan, add beaten yolks of two eggs, half cup sweet cream and one level teaspoon salt. Stir well and place over fire. Continue the stirring until mixture is thoroughly heated, then remove from fire and add stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Beat until light. Then heap in a conical loaf on a buttered baking dish, brush with white of egg or melted butter, brown in hot oven.

Huckleberries With Crackers and Cream—Pick over carefully one quart of berries and keep on ice until wanted. Put in each bowl, for each guest, two soda crackers, broken in not too small pieces, and a few tablespoons berries; teaspoon of powdered sugar and fill bowl with the richest of cold sweet cream. This is an old-fashioned New England breakfast dish. It also answers for a dessert.

Quick and Easy Chocolate Frosting—Melt one and one-half squares unsweetened chocolate over hot water. Cream one tablespoon butter; work in half cup powdered sugar; add two tablespoons cream or milk; beat in enough more powdered sugar to make a smooth paste. Beat this mixture into melted chocolate; flavor with vanilla.

WOMEN RALLY TO NAVY LEAGUE'S CALL

Ten national presidents of women's organizations, representing a combined membership of over half a million, have promised to serve the women's section of the Navy league, the first women's national defense organization, on its national committee. Prominent among the ten are Mrs. William Cumming Story, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and Mrs. Daisy McLaurin Stevens, president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Mrs. Genevieve Clark Thomson, daughter of Speaker Clark, has accepted as national committee member from Louisiana.

Heart and Home Problems

Letters May Be Addressed To Mrs. Thompson, in Care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I want to ask you a very hard question. My sister has consumption and she needs quite a little care. So I left my place in order to come and wait on her as long as she is here, for we all thought she was going to die. Well, my brother-in-law has a housekeeper, but she is going to leave next week. My brother-in-law doesn't want to get anyone in her place, because he thinks she ought to do the housework and give my sister all the attention she needs. I did this I would either have to neglect my sister or the housework.

I had a good place for twenty dollars a month and I can go and take back any time I want and I would like to do so very much. My sister wants me to lose my place on account of her. I promised her that if she should get worse I would come back to her. The reason I would like to go is because I don't get any wages here and I can't afford to lose such a good job just to please my brother-in-law. I want to know if it would be all right for me to go back to my old place and to come to my sister when she needs me. What should I say to my brother-in-law?

As long as you want to stay, your sister does not object, go back to your place. It may be years before she recovers. If so, you certainly should not afford to stay with her without getting any pay. Just tell your brother-in-law that you expect to leave at a certain time and that he will have to get a housekeeper. It will be hard to leave your sister, I know, but in the circumstances it seems the only thing to do.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am a very good looking young lady of nineteen years. Can I do to make my waistline larger? I have a very small waistline.

(2) Do you believe in medium readers? I have been to a few of them and what they told me seemed to be true.

(3) There is a young Polish fellow I went with, but he gave me another name. Do you think that he was ashamed of his Polish name? He made an engagement with me, but disappointed me, and the next time he came up he wanted to know what the matter was. Do you think he likes me? I love the fellow dearly and cannot find another like him.

(4) Why has a good girl no chance in the world any more? All the fellows seem to be alike.

A BIG BROWN EYED GIRL. (1) Be thankful that your waistline is small; they are coming in style again. If you want it to look larger, wear straight corsets and do not lace them tightly.

(2) Most mediums are fakes. One's character and environment are shown in his expression, clothes, walk, smile and in numerous little ways. People even at reading character often pretend to be mediumistic when they have absolutely no knowledge of the occult.

(3) The Polish boy might have been ashamed of his name. I do not know. From what you say he seems to take great delight in being unscrupulous. Why not look for some one who can be depended upon and trusted instead of wasting your love on that Polish fellow? If he had for you he would not break a date with no reason for it.

(4) All the fellows seem to be alike in demanding "good girls" for their money. You have a mistaken idea, girls, if you think they don't.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Please give me a cheap, simple recipe to cure dandruff.

Boric acid, one dram; lavender water, two and one-half ounces. Mix and massage into the scalp every other night.

Will "A Hostess" please send a stamped and addressed envelope.

Mexican Rainfall. The low rainfall of the extreme north of Mexico of two to three inches on the border of Arizona, and the excessive fall, reaching 156 inches, on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, with the high rate for Monterey and the moderate fall for the capital, show how remarkable are the hygrometric conditions due to topography. The maximum rainfall is only exceeded in very few regions of the globe.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the Othine Prescription.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by Badger Drug Co., or any druggist under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

WAR WIDOWS BENEFIT FROM NEW SOCIETY

Movement to Give Relief to War Victims Proves Valuable to Five Thousand Widows.

Paris, August 20.—Five thousand widows of the war have now benefited in one way or another through the "Society of Mutual Assistance of the Widows of the War." This was one of the earliest movements started for relief of war victims. It was organized August 19, 1914, and a week later began effective work under the name of the "Woman's Office" at 15, rue de la Ville l'Eveque.

The "Woman's Office" sought employment, not only for widows, but for women whose husbands were mobilized, and endeavored by various means to assist women, whose income was cut off by the war, in earning their living. It gave no charity but made loans to those in immediate want.

From a simple Women's Office, the movement soon became a Widows' Office, and was finally reorganized into a Mutual Association. Its object is still, not charity, but mutual aid in finding ways of gaining a livelihood for its members. It is patronized by generous citizens of all religions, and of all political parties. Frederic Masson, the venerable Academician and historian of the Napoleonic era, directing the organization, while the Countess of Ribes, who for years had assisted the orphans of La Villette by annual sales of knick-knacks, made in the antique style, organized the workrooms of the society. Nearly everything is made in the antique style and so well made as to rival real antiques. Some of the jewel boxes and glove boxes with miniatures or ornamental paper are masterpieces of French art. The widows are making all kinds of ornamental receptacles, in all forms, and hand bags in black moire with carved clasps, pearl bags with antique clasps, screens, lacquered Japanese chests, fans, hand painted Christmas cards, etc.

As fast as the sales grow the membership will be increased, and by organizing annual sales in the principal cities of the United States, Canada

MADISON SUGAR BEET FACTORY WILL OPERATE ON OCTOBER THE FIRST

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Madison, Wis., Aug. 20.—The plant of the United States Sugar company here, manufacturing beet sugar, will renew operations Oct. 1. Over 3,000 acres of beets were contracted for. The plant at Menomonee Falls will employ about 400 men. The revival of the beet sugar industry is said to be due in part to the changed conditions brought about by the European war, resulting in a greatly increased price for sugar.

Many of the contracts made with farmers this year were optional, the beets being paid for in direct ratio with the market price of sugar.

CHAPTER IX.

What We Overheard.

I could feel the trembling of her body, and for an instant my brain seemed to reel with dizziness. The danger confronting us was not so much mine as hers. These men were not soldiers but desperadoes, the scum of the hills, and they had come actuated by one object only—the possession of Major Harwood's daughter. What the real purpose of the Cowans might be I could not even conjecture, but this night raid was, beyond all doubt, a part of that same foul plot which had involved the cowardly murder of the father. That had been the work of the elder Cowan, and now had come the turn of the son. Here was the culmination of the feud between the two families, the blood-anger which had smoldered for years, finally to find its expression in this outrage under the guise of war. With the major dead, and his only child married to Anse Cowan—whether by force, or otherwise—the account would be closed. Once I really this villain's wife all her inheritance would be in his control. Death, even, was far preferable to falling alive into their hands. I felt instinctively that it would be her choice. She had uttered no sound, no cry after that first startled exclamation. Suddenly her hands grasped mine in which I gripped the revolver. "Do not shoot—not yet!" she whispered, the sound of her words barely audible. "Wait; there is one chance still that we may deceive them."

"A way leading out? You mean a secret passage?"

"No, but a spot where we might hide, and be overlooked. I am sure none of these men know this house; Anse Cowan has never been inside of it, and most of the ruffians with him are from beyond the mountains. If they do not find us here when they search, they will believe we have escaped."

"They will discover the preacher," I protested, yet with a faint throb of hope. "He will be heard from presently, and they will learn the truth from him."

"All he knows—yes; but that is not much. He cannot be sure that we have not had time in which to get safely away."

"I see what you mean," I said swiftly. "Go up first, Miss Noreen—hurry." She crept through the narrow scuttlehole, her supple, slender body finding easy passage. With two blows of my foot I loosened the supports, freeing them from the floor, and mounted recklessly. Already men were on the stairs, the gleam of an approaching light reflecting along the side-walls. There was light flooring above, and sufficient space in which to move freely, although I could see nothing, not even the breathless girl at my side. Together we grasped the upper rungs, and drew up the ladder, sliding it in behind us on the floor. The scuttle cover was on hinges, and it slipped over the edge of the hole noiselessly. We lay there pressed closely together in silent suspense. We could distinguish the opening and closing of doors, and the sound of voices calling to others on the floor below. Once some fellow, apparently just beneath us, slipped out an oath.

"Well, by God, Jack, do you suppose Nichols has dared play such a durned trick on me and squealed to the girl?"

"Hanged if I know," was the sullen reply. "But it don't look like thar was a soul in the house."

I felt her hand touch mine softly, and bent my head until her lips were at my ear.

"That was Anse Cowan," she whispered. "I recognize that voice. What do you suppose they will do now?"

My fingers tightened their grip; the men below had moved on, their voices grumbling along the hall.

"They will discover the preacher presently," I said, endeavoring to make my words as reassuring as possible. "I only wonder they have overlooked him so long; I supposed he would make an outcry."

She drew in her breath sharply, and sat up. The movement was noiseless, but in the instant of intense silence which followed, we heard below us the sudden sound of struggle, a muffled voice calling for mercy, the shuffling of a body being hauled forward across the floor. Then someone ran along the hall, passing just beneath us.

"What have you found, Kelly?" It was Anse's voice roaring out the question. "Ah! the old fox dug out of his hole, hey! Now see here, you canting old Baptist hypocrite, what kind of a trick is it you are playing on me? Stand him up there boys, against that rail. Stop your howling, or I'll smash you one in the face. Where did you find the fool, Jack?"

"Locked in a closet yonder; looks like it might be the girl's room. The darn fool is too skeered for talk yet."

"Well, I'll make him, or else thar'll be a dead preacher in 'bout a minute. I reckon as how I'll do as much skeering as anyone. Now, Nichols, ye see that! What the devil was yer doing in that closet?"

"They—they done put me thar, Anse."

"Go on. Who was yer beside the girl when yer c'm?"

"A Yankee lieutenant, a cavalryman I reckon from thar yellow stripes on his legs."

"A Yank! Did yer hear the feller's name?"

"Durn if I'm sure; he's a right good sized man, an' not bad lookin'. Pears to me, now I think of it, she called him Raymond."

There was a gasping sound as though Anse's hand had closed again round the fellow's throat.

"Raymond! I reckon yer lyin' ter me, parson. Yer heard tell of 'er feller over in camp, an' thar name stuck. 'Twas he healthy fer yer ter play no game yere."

"I ain't, Anse. Quit a chokin' me. I never heard tell o' no Yank named Raymond afore. Be thar one 'round yere?"

"Wall, thar was, but I don't reckon thar is now," doubtfully. "Last I heard tell o' him he was over in Fayette a ridin' like hell fer Charleston. Monte's band picked him up, an' he didn't find this kentry none too healthy fer his line o' business, which was recruiting—what's that, Kelly?"

"Better let thar preacher tell his story, Anse. We're losin' a lot o' time; I reckon thar must be a bin som' kind o' male critter yere; 'tain't likely thar girl locked him up alone, an' it don't make no odds what the Yank's name was, now."

"Go on, Nichols; what happened? Tell us the whole of it, but make it short."

The preacher drew in a long breath, evidently relieved to have the pressure of Anse's murderous fingers removed from his throat. He sputtered a bit as he began to tell his story and there were muffled words we could not distinguish. Occasionally someone of his auditors interrupted with an oath, or exclamation. He spoke faster as he proceeded, as though feeling less fear, and eager to have the task over. Finally Cowan interjected a brief question.

"You damn coward! Did you tell?"

"Honest, Anse, I don't jest knows; but I reckon I did spit it most out, fer he'd a killed me if I hadn't."

"Do you mean to say you told them I was comin' yere tonight, an' goin' fer ter make the girl marry me—you whinin' cur?"

"How could I help it, Anse? I reckon if that feller had a pistol to yer head you'd a did some talkin'. Maybe he's a recruitin' officer, but he ain't no sorter man, ter fool with onst he gets mad."

"Well, I'd sure like fer ter know who he is. He can't be thar feller what got away from Monte, fer he lit out fer Charleston. How did this yere feller git yere—on horseback?"

"I didn't git sight o' no hoss; thar was only one four-legged critter in thar barn, an' I reckon as how the girl must hev rode thar."

"Say, Anse," broke in the voice of Kelly, "I'll bet this Yank is the one thar was with Fox, an' got away. He'd had time 'nough fer ter git this fer on fut."

"But what does he call hisself Raymond fer?"

"Durn if I know—maybe he jest heard tell of the other feller, an' thought as how he'd git 'long easier under that name."

"Well, I reckon it won't make much difference what the cuss's name is if ever I git my hands on him," growled Anse savagely. "Go on, Nichols. What became of them?"

"Skipped out, I reckon. I never seen nothing more o' 'em."

Anse must have completely lost his temper, for there was the sound of a blow, and the noise of a falling body, feet shuffling as the cuss drew back. Then a moment of silence.

"Pick the ol' fool up," said a voice. "Throw him back into the room thar. Maybe he'll hev sum sense when he wakes up. Kelly, take Jim with yer, an' see if thar hoss is in thar stable yet. If them two left on fut, they ain't gone fur in this storm. Enyhow thar's one thing sure—they ain't a hidin' up yere. Cum on, boys, let's take a 'nother look 'round down below."

"You Damn Coward! What Did You Tell?"

We heard their feet on the stairs, and the light, which had streamed up through the crack in the scuttle, faded away, leaving us in utter darkness.

CHAPTER X.

The Recognition.

I began to understand the state of affairs now, piecing this and that together, lying there in the darkness, listening for some sound of guidance from below. I could hear the soft breathing of the girl at my side, but she did not speak or move. She had overheard all that was said; she must also realize fully the object of these men, and the desperation of our position. Would she continue to trust me? To believe in my purpose, or had the words of betrayal spoken by Anse Cowan and Kelly laid a sting of suspicion behind? If they had, would I dare to confess the truth, fully reveal my identity, and thus leave the fate of my secret mission in her hands?

Her sympathies must naturally be with the Union forces; she would see the issues from the viewpoint of her father. That would have nothing to do with these bandits, but later might greatly interfere with the work to which I had been assigned. I had two duties to perform—to the army, and to this helpless girl; which was paramount if by any chance they clashed? I could not answer, but I did comprehend which came first—I must save Noreen Harwood from the merciless clutch of Anse Cowan. I must remain with her loyally, until she was safe in the protection of friends. Possibly I could accomplish this, and still retain my secret.

"Is there any other way out of here, Miss Noreen?" I asked, scarcely above a whisper, "any opening leading to the roof?"

"I have never seen one, though often up here when I was a child."

"Then our only means of escape is by the ladder, and we dare not venture that until assured those fellows have really left. Do you hear any sound below?"

We both listened in breathless silence, but no noise reached us with any distinctness. I thought I caught the echo of a voice, but it sounded from outside the house—possibly someone yelling a report from the stable.

"Shall I risk exploring?" I asked doubtfully. "There is surely no one on this floor except Nichols, and I judge he has been knocked out for some time. We can hardly wait here for him to recover, and give us free passage. What action do you think we ought to take?"

"I certainly have no desire to remain here longer than is necessary," she answered calmly, "but I do not believe those men have all left the house. Some may be outside in the storm searching for traps of us, but there are others surely on guard below. Did you hear that? A knife fell on the floor; someone is eating in the dining room."

"I am going to lift the scuttle; possibly some light may filter up the stairs."

I was obliged to loosen it by the insertion of my knife blade, yet the clump yielded with but little noise, and I peered eagerly down the opening. There was a lamp burning in the lower hall, the reflection sufficiently bright to reveal the general situation. No men were visible, nor did I hear any voices in conversation. One thing was certain—the upper hall was completely deserted, for I could see along its entire length. I lifted my head, and glanced back to where the girl remained silent, and motionless. My eyes, long accustomed to the darkness, could distinguish her outlines, even the dim contour of her face. She sat upright on the rough flooring, apparently regarding me intently.

"Do you find the way left clear?"

"So far as the upper hall is concerned—yes. There is a light burning below, although I can perceive no movement. They may be in the dining room, but I do not believe they will search up here again."

"No?" The slight rising inflection stung me. What did her action mean? Why should she so suddenly assume that tone with me? The sooner I knew the better.

"I beg your pardon, Miss Harwood," I said quietly, "but I fail to understand why you should speak to me in this manner. You have shown confidence, trust, in my former efforts to serve you, and I am just as eager now to be of service."

"You mean you wish me to have complete confidence in you?"

"Certainly. I can do nothing otherwise."

Dinner Stories

An evangelist was exhorting his hearers to flee from the wrath to come. "I warn you," he thundered, "that there will be weeping, and wailing, and gnashing of teeth!" At this moment an old woman in the gallery stood up. "Sir," she shouted, "I have no teeth."

"Madam," returned the evangelist, "teeth will be provided."

"If you say this service is solid silver, I suppose I'll have to take your word for it," said the man who was selecting a wedding gift. "but it certainly doesn't look it."

"That's just the beauty of it," replied the salesman. "You can leave that silver service right out in plain sight on your sideboard, and burglars will never touch it."

The commuter was angry. "For the last ten days," he complained, "that seven-thirty train has been anywhere from five to twenty minutes late."

"It was on time this morning," said the station master.

"That's what I'm kidding about. What right has the company to start its trains on time without notifying the public?"

"Doctor," said the patient, "I'm having trouble with my eyes. My vision is blurred, and I can't recognize my best friend across the street."

"What is your business?" asked the medical man.

"I'm a hospital umpire."

"In that case," said the doctor,

Mrs. Herbert Haire Gains Every Day After Taking Wonderful Remedy.

Mrs. Herbert Haire of Shawano, Wis., was a victim of stomach and digestive ailments. She tried many remedies and sought relief in many ways.

At last she decided to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. The swift results astonished her. She wrote: "I am gaining every day since taking your remedy and tonic. Shall continue to take it until I am sure I am in permanent good health. Enclosed find an order for a dozen and a half bottles for my suffering friends, for I know it will cure them."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

"You have no cause for worry whatever. You can see plenty good enough for the umpiring they're doing in the big leagues nowadays."

Swiss Army Always Ready.

Endurance tests show that in time of war the Swiss soldiers can "command" the highest Alpine passes and the most difficult mountains with light artillery. The infantry, the field artillery and cavalry are recruited by the cantons, but the engineers, guides, sanitary and administrative troops, as well as the army train, are enrolled by the confederation. The cantons furnish the uniforms and equipments, for which they are, however, reimbursed by the federal government, and the latter supplies the arms directly. A yearly inspection of armament and equipment at which every soldier, without exception, has to appear, prevents any neglect in that line, as every man keeps his uniform and rifle at home, and when the mobilization order goes forth, the whole army is ready for action within a few hours. A regular salary is paid only to the instructors, the general staff and a few other officials. The officers receive pay only during the brief period they are called upon for training. The common soldier, when on duty, has his traveling and living expenses paid and receives besides that a daily compensation of 80 centimes, or 16 cents.

Life-Saving Rifle.

A rifle that shoots over the parapet while the user sits in comparative safety in the trench without necessity for exposing himself to the fire of the enemy is a late invention brought out by a well-known sportsman and big game hunter of England. The feature of this invention is that the rifle is held vertically while the projectile is fired horizontally. This is accomplished by a curved deflecting tube, fixed to the muzzle of the gun, that changes the course of the projectile from the vertical to the horizontal as it leaves the gun.

In spite of the enormous friction that must accompany this change of direction the tube, as shown by actual tests, is not subject to excessive wear while the effective range of a rifle equipped with this device is between 100 and 150 yards. The rifle is aimed by means of a periscope consisting of two mirrors, one fixed to the upper end and the other to the lower end of a tube that is mounted on the rifle barrel.

Not Settled Yet.

"Is the head of the house at home?" asked the agent as the mister of the family answered the doorbell. Making no effort to answer the question, the mister person said: "I don't know what line of goods you are introducing or whether they would fit in our establishment or not, that phase of the matter being neither here nor there; but let me tell you something: If you can establish once for all just who is to be recognized as the head of this house, I'll buy a gross of whatever you've got and pay the catalogue price."

Thin Folks Who Would Increase Weight

SIMPLE DIRECTIONS EASY TO FOLLOW.

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation are sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

If every way you've tried to put on weight has failed try these simple directions. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating now and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In the two weeks note your weight. Sargol does not of itself make fat but mixing with your food its purpose is to help the digestive organs turn the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepare it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. A great deal of this nourishment now passes from thin peoples bodies as waste. Sargol is designed to stop the waste and make the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is non-injurious, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. All leading druggists are authorized to sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back. Advertisement.

INCOME FROM DAIRY HIGHER THAN OTHERS

Prof. D. H. Otis Inspects Farms of Green County and Shows the Financial Results of Dairy Interests.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Monroe, Wis., Aug. 20.—The average income of the farmers of Green county is $1,000 a year higher than any other section of the state," was the declaration of Professor D. H. Otis, leading the farm management department of the college of agriculture, during a tour of the leading farms of this county.

The increased income is a result of the dairy industry, and the farmers of Green county may well take off their hats to the old bossy. A still greater profit would accrue to the farmers of this section if they would give the dairying industry the fullest publicity possible and give to the rest of the state stories of their successes.

One of the farms visited by the expert was that of H. G. Legler, a tract of 450 acres, 500 acres of which are under the plow, and which represents an investment of $80,000, with a working capital of $30,000, and is returning an annual profit of $20,000, almost exclusively from livestock and livestock products. Mr. Legler has 108 cows, Holstein and Brown Swiss, with average annual earnings of $86.

Other leading farms in this section were visited by the thirty experts making the tour of the state, and they declared Green county led the twenty-one counties in the state they had inspected, the cows and land both excelling in production. Milking four times as many cows as any other equal area, they stated it was the volume of business which was bringing the financial results.

When the board of regents have completed their work on the budget, they will make final recommendations to the newly created state board of education.

TERMINAL TAXATION BILL IS THOUGHT TO BE INVALID

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Madison, Wis., Aug. 20.—The technicality by which the terminal tax law, enacted by the passage of the Nye bill, was thought to have endangered the validity of the act has been removed by the revision's general corrective bill offered in the senate yesterday afternoon. Even though no such action were taken, it is said that the intent of the lawmakers in passing the law was so clear that the supreme court would hardly hold it to be unconstitutional. The revisor's bill corrects the statutes in a number of particulars in the renumbering and rejustifying of chapters.

You Furnish the Room, We Furnish the Tenant

Do you see a way that you could use a few extra dollars each week? Yes (?) Well, let us suggest the way for you to get the extra dollars. Take that spare room of yours, which you haven't used since "Johnny" left home, and furnish it up a little—just a little—to make it look attractive.

Then you're ready to insert the "Room for Rent" ad in The Gazette that will bring your room before the eyes of the proper tenant.

The cost is trifling and results are sure in a reasonable length of time.
